About the Presenters:

Olga Phoenix, MPA, MA is the Outreach Advocacy Coordinator for SCCADVASA. She is a scholar, writer, and an advocate, dedicated to social change and interpersonal violence prevention. She recently joined SCCADVASA as an Outreach Advocacy Coordinator, working to identify and address the needs of historically underserved survivors of sexual and domestic violence and their children, especially immigrant women, survivors with limited English proficiency, LGBTQ survivors, women of color, and survivors in rural communities.

Patricia Standaert Ravenhorst, Esq. is the Director and immigration attorney of the South Carolina Immigrant Victim Network, which is a program of the South Carolina Victim Assistance Network (SCVAN). Her work with the Immigrant Victim Network is dedicated to ensuring meaningful access to justice for immigrant victims of crime throughout South Carolina. Ms. Ravenhorst demonstrates her passion for the needs of immigrant victims of crime by frequently speaking to immigrant groups, victim service providers, judges and law enforcement officials regarding the rights of immigrant victims of human trafficking, domestic violence, sexual assault and child abuse.

Jada Charley, is the Language Access Attorney for South Carolina Legal Services where she is responsible for developing and maintaining the firm's Language Access program which ensures that the services of the firm are accessible to people who are Limited English Proficient, deaf, or blind. Prior to joining SCLS, Jada was a circuit court law clerk for the Honorable J. Mark Hayes, worked as a litigation associate at Haynsworth, Sinkler, Boyd in Greenville, SC, and worked as a special education attorney at Protection and Advocacy for People with Disabilities, Inc.
